775. [MT Psalms 90–150] VINCENZO BONATO, I Salmi nell'esperienza cristiana. III. Salmi 89–150 (Quaderni Carmoldoli; Bologna: EDB, 2008). Pp. 266. Paper €24. ISBN 978-88-10-41136-6.

This volume completes B.'s three volume (Christian) spiritual commentary on the Psalms (for Vols. I and II, see OTA 31 [2008] #1826). It covers the last three “books” of the Psalter (which B. numbers according to their LXX numeration [viz., Psalm 89 = MT Psalm 90]); within the books in question he further distinguishes various sub-groupings of thematically related psalms (e.g., Psalms 137–144 [MT Psalms 138–145] revolve around the expectation of a new king). For each of the 60 psalms treated here, B. begins with a summary statement concerning its theme and component units. Thereafter, he provides brief comments by a range of theologians, philosophers, spiritual writers and exegetes from the patristic period through the 20th century concerning selected verses of the given psalm's component units. In some instances, his presentation of a psalm ends with an “application,” this also drawn from one or other of the authors cited by him. The volume concludes with bibliographical references to the Italian translations from which B. culls his citations of the authors he quotes.—C.T.B.
